International Women's Day

On Monday, March 8th, Sartwell celebrated International Women's Day! International Women's Day was first established in 1911 as a designated day for people to demonstrate, celebrate, lobby for, and draw awareness to women's rights and gender equality. It's a day to celebrate every woman and the roles each one plays in our lives, societies, and histories. They are our mothers, sisters, daughters, friends - but they are also leaders, creators, thinkers, teachers, and more.

The residents at Sartwell made mobile profiles of inspirational women, shared stories about the important women in their lives, and discussed women's history.

Saint Patrick's Day

St. Patrick's Day was an excuse for extended fun for all this year! During the first half of March, the white boards featured Irish trivia and Gaelic phrases of the day, the halls were decorated with green, gold, and glitter, and all the residents went on the hunt for Seamus the Leprechaun, who chose a new hiding spot every day. While he sometimes stumped us all with particularly good hiding, Jack, Charles, Donna, and Janice, all caught him and earned their prizes.

On the 17th, Sartwell celebrated with a party, followed by a corned beef and Cabbage dinner. Everyone wore their green and danced their jigs to some Irish folk music.

Full S.T.E.A.M. Ahead!

Recently, the residents of Sartwell have been experiencing activities geared around the subject of S.T.E.A.M. - Science, Technology, Engineering, Art, Math. While we frequently participate in art projects, and practical chemistry with baking, but science experiments have also been added to their monthly calendars. Many have also received education and experience on computers with all the lovely zoom calls they've been having with loved ones.

With the weather starting to turn we look forward to hosting more S.T.E.A.M. activities outdoors - like gardening, egg drops, bottle rockets, and plein-air painting.
